

7th June 2020

Schools partially reopening on a phased basis no earlier than 1 June 2020 risk assessment

Introduction

The Government published guidance on 11 May setting out its expectations that schools partially reopen on a phased basis from a date from 1 June 2020. Schools across the trust will use this guidance and further guidance that the Government will provide. The ambition is that:

- Primary schools welcome back children in nursery, Reception, Year 1 and Year 6 from a date from 1 June 2020
- Secondary schools work towards the possibility of providing some face-to-face contact with young people in Year 10 and Year 12 to help them prepare for exams next year
- Primary schools prepare for the possibility of other year groups returning later in June – this will happen if the Government advises that the most up-to-date assessment of the risk posed by the virus indicates that it is appropriate to have larger numbers of children within schools
- Priority groups, including vulnerable children and children of critical workers, continue to be able to attend schools
- Special schools work towards a phased return of more children and young people without a focus on specific year groups

These plans are being made ahead of confirmation of the scientific advice that the transmission rate has decreased and that it has been decided that it will be safe for a greater number of children and young people to return to school. The Government has said these plans will take place when the five key tests set by Government justify the changes at the time, including the rate of infection decreasing and the enabling programmes set out in the 'Roadmap' also published on 11 May are operating effectively.

The Government guidance recognises that early years and primary age children cannot be expected to remain 2 metres apart from each other and staff. In deciding to bring more children back to early years and schools, the Government has made clear that it has taken this into account.

The Government guidance sets out a range of protective measures, including:

- reducing the size of classes and keeping children in small groups without mixing with others where possible
- staggered break and lunch times, as well as drop offs and pick ups
- increasing the frequency of cleaning, reducing the used of shared items and utilising outdoor space

Schools will strongly encourage children in the four year groups to attend school from 1 June 2020. or the date the Government confirms, unless the child or a family member is shielding or the child is particularly vulnerable due to an underlying condition.

In making these plans, we note the advice from the Government that:

- the Scientific Advisory Group for Emergencies advising the Government has a high degree of confidence that the severity of the disease in children is lower than in adults and a moderately high degree of confidence that children aged up to 11 are less susceptible to it
- all staff are already eligible for testing, and staff in shielding and high-risk groups should remain at home
- from 1 June, all children and young people eligible to return to their settings will have access to testing, if they display symptoms, as will any symptomatic member(s) of their household (Test and Trace – 28 May onwards)
- where a setting has a positive case, Public Health England will advise on the appropriate course of action, and the relevant group of people with whom the individual has mixed closely, should be sent home and advised to self-isolate for 14 days.

The Government guidance includes expectations about effective infection protection and control:

- minimising contact with individuals who are unwell by ensuring that those who have coronavirus symptoms, or who have someone in their household who does, do not attend school
- cleaning hands more often than usual - wash hands thoroughly for 20 seconds with running water and soap and dry them thoroughly or use alcohol hand rub or sanitiser ensuring that all parts of the hands are covered
- ensuring good respiratory hygiene - promote the 'catch it, bin it, kill it' approach
- cleaning frequently touched surfaces often using standard products, such as detergents.
- minimising contact and mixing by altering the classroom layout and staggering break times

The Government guidance includes:

- wearing a face covering or face mask in schools is not recommended
- the majority of staff in education settings will not require PPE beyond what they would normally need for their work, even if they are not always able to maintain a distance of 2 metres from others
- PPE is only needed in a very small number of cases including a) children whose care routinely already involves the use of PPE due to their intimate care needs; b) if a child becomes unwell with symptoms of coronavirus while in their setting and needs direct personal care until they can return home

The Government guidance explains that:

- children who have been classed as clinically extremely vulnerable have been advised to shield should not attend school and should continue to be supported at home as much as possible
- for children who are clinically vulnerable, but not clinically extremely vulnerable, parents should follow medical advice
- education staff, who are clinically extremely vulnerable are advised not to attend work and should work from home where possible – schools will support this by asking staff to support remote education, carry out lesson planning or other roles which can be done from home
- if clinically vulnerable, but not clinically extremely vulnerable, individuals cannot work from home, they should be offered the safest available on-site roles
- if a child or a member of staff lives with someone who is clinically vulnerable, but not clinically extremely vulnerable, including those who are pregnant, they can attend school
- if a child or staff member lives in a household with someone who is extremely clinically vulnerable, they should be supported to learn or work at home

Although the Government guidance recognises that early years and primary age children cannot be expected to remain 2 metres apart from each other and staff, it advises that:

- it is still important to reduce contact between people as much as possible and reduce transmission risk by ensuring children and staff where possible, only mix in a small, consistent group and that small group stays away from other people and groups (for Year 10 & 12 students these arrangements will take account of government guidance)

- where settings can keep children and young people in those small groups 2 metres away from each other, they should do so, noting that brief, transitory contact, such as passing in a corridor, is low risk
- for primary schools, classes should normally be split in half, with no more than 15 pupils per small group with desks spaced as far apart as possible
- rewrite the timetable to stagger assembly groups, stagger break times including lunch so that children are not moving around the school at the same time, stagger drop-off and collection times, plan parents' drop-off and pick-up protocols that minimise adult to adult contact
- consider how play equipment is used ensuring it is appropriately cleaned between groups of children using it, and that multiple groups do not use it simultaneously
- remove unnecessary items from classrooms and other learning environments where there is space to store it elsewhere
- remove soft furnishings, soft toys and toys that are hard to clean (such as those with intricate parts)
- consider how children and young people arrive and reduce any unnecessary travel on coaches, buses or public transport where possible

Where schools' circumstances make this difficult, the Government guidance says that solutions might involve children attending a nearby school and that schools' order of priorities should be Key Worker/vulnerable, nursery (where applicable), reception and year 1.

The Government says it will revisit this advice when the science indicates it is safe to invite more children back to schools. The guidance sets out that schools:

- ensure that sufficient handwashing facilities are available - where a sink is not nearby, they should provide hand sanitiser in each classroom
- clean surfaces that children and young people are touching, such as toys, books, desks, chairs, doors, sinks, toilets, light switches, bannisters, more regularly than normal
- ensure that all adults and children:
 - frequently wash their hands with soap and water for 20 seconds and dry thoroughly
 - clean their hands on arrival at the setting, before and after eating, and after sneezing or coughing
 - are encouraged not to touch their mouth, eyes and nose
 - use a tissue or elbow to cough or sneeze and use bins for tissue waste ('catch it, bin it, kill it')
- ensure that help is available for children and young people who have trouble cleaning their hands independently
- consider how to encourage young children to learn and practise these habits through games, songs and repetition
- ensure that bins for tissues are emptied throughout the day
- where possible, all spaces should be well ventilated using natural ventilation (opening windows) or ventilation units
- prop doors open, where safe to do so (bearing in mind fire safety and safeguarding), to limit use of door handles and aid ventilation
- there is no need for anything other than normal personal hygiene and washing of clothes following a day in an educational or childcare setting

The Government guidance advises reducing mixing within schools by:

- accessing rooms directly from outside where possible
- considering one-way circulation, or place a divider down the middle of the corridor to keep groups apart as they move through the setting where spaces are accessed by corridors
- staggering breaks to ensure that any corridors or circulation routes used have a limited number of pupils using them at any time
- staggering lunch breaks - children and young people should clean their hands beforehand and enter in the groups they are already in, groups should be kept apart as much as possible and tables should be cleaned between each group. If such measures are not possible, children should be brought their lunch in their classrooms
- ensuring that toilets do not become crowded by limiting the number of children or young people who use the toilet facilities at one time
- noting that some children and young people will need additional support to follow these measures (for example, routes round school marked in braille or with other meaningful symbols, and social stories to support them in understanding how to follow rules)
- using outside space for exercise and breaks, for outdoor education
- limiting the amount of shared resources that are taken home and limiting exchange of take-home resources between children, young people and staff
- by seeking to prevent the sharing of stationery and other equipment where possible
- shared materials and surfaces should be cleaned and disinfected more frequently
- adjusting transport arrangements where necessary including encouraging parents and children and young people to walk or cycle where possible, following further guidance on how to travel safely, which will be published shortly

All staff will be instructed on the nature of COVID-19 and its transmission. They will confirm they understand the reason for the control measures that are required. All staff will confirm that they are confident in applying the control measures identified in school risk assessments. Staff will receive appropriate instructions in relation to the specific measures that have been put in place by the school setting. Staff will be involved in the practical implementation of the school risk assessments.
